DETAILED ACTION

Priority

Acknowledgment is made of applicant's claim for foreign priority based on an application filed in Europe on April 14 1998. It is noted, however, that applicant has not filed a certified copy of the European application as required by 35 U.S.C. 119(b).

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement filed April 18, 2000, fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(2), which requires a legible copy of each U.S. and foreign patent; each publication or that portion which caused it to be listed; and all other information or that portion which caused it to be listed. It has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

Claims 1, 6, 9, and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kato et al. (Kato), U.S. Patent No. 5,745,205.

Art Unit: 2871

Kato discloses a liquid crystal film or layer with homeotropic alignment characterized in that the homeotropic alignment is achieved by an aligning layer on a substrate and that the aligning layer is an inorganic layer (col. 2, lines 55-65; col. 6, lines 10-53).

Claims 1, 6, 7, 9, and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Scherer et al. (Scherer), U.S. Patent No. 5,880,801.

Scherer discloses a liquid crystal film or layer with homeotropic alignment characterized in that the homeotropic alignment is achieved by an aligning layer on a substrate and that the aligning layer is an inorganic layer (col. 4, lines 44-60).

Claims 1, 5, 9, and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Ma et al., U.S. Patent No. 5,056,898.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Scherer et al. (Scherer), U.S. Patent No. 5,880,801.

Scherer discloses a liquid crystal film or layer, but does not disclose the aluminum coating is a medium or high density coating.

Art Unit: 2871

Medium or high density coatings of aluminum are well known and, to produce good coverage by the aluminum, would have been obvious to use.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Scherer or Kato.

Scherer or Kato disclose a liquid crystal film or layer, but do not disclose that the substrate is a plastic sheet or film.

Plastic sheets and films as substrates are well known in the liquid crystal display art and, to reduce breakage, would have been obvious to use.

Claims 2 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Scherer or Kato as applied to claims 1, 6, 9, and 10 above, and further in view of Ohnishi et al. (Ohnishi), U.S. Patent No. 5,601,884.

Scherer and Kato disclose a liquid crystal film or layer with homeotropic alignment, but do not disclose that the substrate is a polymeric material nor that the substrate prior to coating with the alignment layer or its precursor is subjected to a corona discharge.

Ohnishi discloses substrates of polymeric material (col. 14, lines 41-48).

It would have been obvious to use a polymer substrate, as taught by Ohnishi, in the device of either Scherer and Kato to reduce breakage.

Ohnishi discloses "in case a polymer film is used as substrate, the polymer film or surface of the surface-treated polymer film may be further subjected to a treatment for increasing uniform film thickness of the film by a known surface reforming technique such as ... corona discharge" (col. 17, lines 16-23).

Art Unit: 2871

Therefore, it would have been obvious to use corona discharge, as taught by Ohnishi, in the device of either Scherer or Kato.
